through Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate, that the United States welcomed General Carrama's proposal to adjust all pending differences between the two governments by direct diplomatic negotiation.

Mr. Arredondo was informed of the American government's attitude in a conversation today with Secretary Lansing after the latter had conferred with President Wilson. Later a formai note will confirm the ambassador's report. Mr. Lansing virtually had completed the communication tonight, but it may be read to the cabinet remorrow before it is delivered.

Look for Peace Now.

Look for Peace Now.

Look for Peace Now.

It was evident at the state department today that officials believe an opportunity now has been presented which may provide a means of aiding the de facto government in restoring order throughout Mexico.

While the immediate purpose of the negotiations will be the evolution of some plan for tranquilizing the border regions, the discussions may take on a wider scope. There is little doubt that Mr. Arredondo received the impression from Secretary Lansing today that if adequate guarantees as to the security of American and other foreign interests in Mexico could be secured, the Washington government believes the financial aid so greatly needed by the de facto government could be found. Some time ago, it is understood, a suggestion that the Washington government would encourage American bankers to assist the de facto government, was made through indirect channels. General Carranza then had not felt the pinch of poverty which now threatens his government with collapse and rejected the suggestion. He holds radical views on the question of foreign concessions and is understood to have been actuated by a desire to leave himself free of any obligations in this regard.

Carranza to Terms.

Events have clearly proved the failure of the first chief's hope to reestablish orderly government unaided, and with the war abroad shutting off other assistance he is thought now willing to make proper guarantees in order to secure American capital.

Counsellor Polk conferred late today with Henry T. Fletcher, designated as heast-day to Mexico, and Paul

The fight reported today was the fourth between United States marines and revolutionists in about a week. Officials believe that the complete rout of the revolutionists in the last encounter influenced their leaders to agree to disarm.

washington, July 6.—A census bureau table issued today estimates the number of able-bodied men of military age in the United States at about 21,000,000.

The estimate is based on the assumption that there has been an increase of 10 per cent since 1910, when the number was 19,183,000, including 14,224,000 native whites, 2,857,000 naturalized foreign-born whites, 2,857,000 naturalized foreign-born whites, 2,052,000 negroes and 50,900 Indians.

Indians.
During the Civil war, when the population, exclusive of the seceding states, was less than one-fourth of the present population, the number of men serving ir the northern army at one time or another was 2,500,000. There are four states. New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, in each of which the men of military age number more than 1,000,000.

Attorney, Evers and Assistant Have Adopted the "Reeves System,"

PRISONERS charged with crimes are sweltering in the county jail these summer days on account of pelitics. Some of them are guilty, some are innocent. They are denied their are innocent. They are denied their "day in court" because certain officials constituting the "wheels of justice" have no time to give to the county for the reason they are candidates for some office or other.

done to dozens of poor devils who are behind the bars.

The Tulsa county courthouse is Democratic campaign headquarters. Stationery, stamps, clerical help and everything is being thrown into the campaign coffers. Nearly every man in the building is a candidate for something or other.

But One Viewpoint.

The ordinary citizen who goes there seeking service gets instead the cold and icy stare—unless he is a Demo-cratic voter, in which event he is bombarded with candidates cards, cheap cigers and lots of conversation.

The county attorney's office is absolutely all of a result work is

For months efforts have been made to take up the criminal ducket in the district court. Judge George C. Crump of Holdenville has been assigned to the local court twice, but on each occasion the term has been postponed because the county attorney's effice let it be known that they "were too busy to take up the docket at this time."

The other day a jury was empan-eiled. The jurymen, mostly business men, reported at the courthouse. Then it was found that Judge Conn Lian could not be located. The jurors were dismissed. The county must pay their fees. Extravasance is no name for it. The county must pay for the keep of the men in jail who have been writing for months to get a trial.

The latrines are and the company streets, away back in the rear. They are models of cleanliness and sanitation. The rules are the strictest. Then, adjoining the latrines, are the company shower baths. The men have not only every opportunity, but every encour. agentent to be clean. The officers latrines and bath rooms are in the old fort buildings, over the hill with toweis in hand and finds a lot of comfort in it. When it comes to violations of the latrine rule every officer is a martinet. The health of every soldier is regarded as something to be sacredly guarded, and the one who violates a rule that might menace the physical welfare of any soldier is brought to a quick and positive accounting. One former soldier told me of having once thought-lessly violated the rule, with another soldier, and they were required to dig a new latrine. He thought the officer was right in his punishment.
